DATA PROTECTION TRAINING FOR BUSINESSES

Singapore is a leading digital economy and companies are accelerating towards the adoption of digitalization and data innovation. Technology enables the collection of a vast amount of personal data and this mandates the robust safeguarding of the privacy of these critical information to gain consumer trust and provide assurance to regulators. As such, NP CET has developed a corporate data protection training roadmap for organisations to train their management, DPO function and employees to be equipped with the knowledge and skillsets for data protection and innovation. The roadmap will provide insights to the requirements of the Personal Data Protection Act (PDPA) to enhance business competitiveness. It comprises 3 major tracks – data protection, accountability and innovation and will equip your organisation to comply and demonstrate accountability for personal data, and appreciate the value of data innovation for business growth.

HEAR FROM OUR LEARNERS

“

The course is very well structured. The pace and content is well-suited for participants with zero knowledge on business decisions analytics. We also have very good instructors who are extremely knowledgeable, effective and patient.

Benjamin Ng (Principal Engineer – Class of 2020 Specialist Diploma Business Decision Analytics)

“

The compact nature of the course brings professionals like me up to speed in new knowledge areas within a relatively short span of time. The course allows me to specialise in subject matters like social media, data reporting and analytics. It also planted the seed in me to be independent and be self-guided in my learning experience.

Koh Seah Poh (Trade Marketing Manager @ Zuellig Pharma – Metholatum Division. Currently enrolled in the Advanced Diploma in Enterprise Business Analytics course)

“

The trainer was engaging and provided the class with practical solutions to handle real life situations. The customer service frameworks mentioned in the course were very helpful and I intend to apply some of the frameworks I learnt in the course when I work.

Cheng Zhongyi (Grab Driver - He enrolled in the Customer Service and Quality course)

Continuing Education Week 2021: Embrace Change. Explore Possibilities.

Over 300 registered for our webinars at our first Continuing Education Week 2021. Together with our partners from Southwest CDC, e2i, NTUC Health Academy and Social Service Institute and colleagues from the business, infocomm and technology, engineering, interdisciplinary studies, humanities and social science schools, we conducted four information sessions covering SGUnited Skills Programmes, data protection training for corporates and part-time and post diplomas programmes.

We also recently participated in the Wisma Geylang Serai Jobs and SkillsFuture Fair on 23 Jan 2021. At the roadshow, we provided career advisory services to help potential learners decide which courses would be useful for them to do a career switch.
